A NEW TRIFF BILL.

The Great Republican Measure is Finally Presented by

THE WAYS AND MEANS COMMITTEE

To the House-It is Unsatisfactory to the Protectionists-Comments of Different Congressmen.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 31 .- (Special telegram to THE HERALD.]-The Republicans, now that they have finished their tariff bill, will have hard work getting it pages. through the House. The New England men are furious about hides being restored to the dutiable list. The sugar men are equally angry and even the Pennsylvanians are not as well satisfied with certain parts of the metal schedule as they might be. Mr. Coleman, the Republican representative from Louisiana, is greatly dissatisfied with the committee's action. He said to with the committee's action. He said to me: "I was elected to Congress as a prolectionist to represent that element in Louleiana. I said I would go into the Republican caucus if the Republicans would leave our sugar interests alone. I told this to the President, and he assured me that we would be protected. Mr. Rowell, of Illinois, came to Louisiana in the last campaign, and made a number of appeaches. He talked protection to Ameritan industries, but I find the entire delegame: "I was elected to Congress as a protan industries, but I find the entire delegation is in favor of the cut in sugar. Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, and another gentle man who spoke among us, like Mr. Rowell, talked protection. He came here, was nade a member of the ways and means comnittee and used his influence in aid of free sugar. What am I going to do! Fight the bill, not the sugar clause alene, mind you, but the whole bill. To me it looks like sectional legislation. It will hurt the Republican party all through the south, Alabama has vast iron and coal interests and ought in time to become a protection-

THE CONTINENTIAL NEWSPAPERS

And Magazines are Replete With Articles of the Resignation-Fears of Italian Pellticians - German Politics.

[Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Dispatch.] Berlin, March 30.—[By cable to the New York Tribune.]—It is the hour for us Americans once again to remind ourselves of one thing that Prince Bismarck has been a steadfast friend to America through his whole public career. He kept Prussia benevolently neutral when Napoleon had organized a European cabal in favor of the southern confederacy. But for Prince Bismarck in Germany, and Disraelll in England, that perfidious scheme night have succeeded. "I never would listen to it," said Prince Bismarck. "When the Emperor asked my counsel, I set my face against it, as an act of counity to the United States. I had only to re-

Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Cable,? Panis, March 30.-Continental newspapers and magazines are repiete with articles on the resignation of Prince Bismarck, his personal-ity, his services and the ultimate effect of his withdrawal from active life. From the general tone of the articles it is apparent that the old chancellor's retirement has made a deeper pop-ular impression throughout Europe than the in-spired dispatches from Berlin would indicate.

spired dispatches from Berlin would indicate, and it is freely predicted that his services and counsel will be caperly sought by the Emperor and his enfourage at no distant date.

Sir Fou Ching, the new Chinese minister to London and Parls, is now installed with his family and suite in the Chinese legation in Place Victor Hugo. The new minister is lifty years old and is now busy acquiring the French tongue, of which he was totally ignorant upon his arrival. His wife, a woman of forty, and his fourtgen-year old daughter are with him. They have been in public only once. They were suporbly dressed in embroinered red silk and limped along leaning on the arms of attendants. Their small feet now and then peeped from beneath their gorgeous garments and were the wonder of the Parsian spectators. The new minister's predecessor, Lio Joul Ting, has been appointed governor of the order of Cauton.

Fears of Italian Politicians.

[Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Cable,] ROME, March 30,-Italian politicians generally fear that the Socialistic revolt in Germany erious trouble will result to the Italian government from internal disorders as well as outside uncertainty.

Cardinal Rampolla, the Pope's secretary of state, in giving the views of the Vasican with regard to the position of international affairs, admits that the European outlook is rather cloudy, but expresses himself confident that pence will be maintained.

Prime Minister Crispi has received a private letter from Bismarck in which the latter expressed the hope that Italy will continue to maintain the same friendly terms with Germany as heretofore.

maintain the same friendly terms with Germany as heretolore. An interview, however, with Signor Crispi's private secretary reveals the fact that the Italian prime minister entertains some doubts as to the stability of the triple alliance, and looks for a very serious disturbance of the present status in Europe before long. Nevertheless, he replied to Prince Bismarck's letter that should a rupture occur between Italy and Germany, it should not be his fault.

Troops on the Frontier.

Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Cable. Pauls, March 30.—The troops on the north-eastern frontier of France are being largely re-inferced and the forts are being-strengthened all along the line. The fortress at Toul has been made the chief place of arms. It is estimated that the whole force on this frontier numbers 140,000 men. The northeast frontier of the country may, therefore, be regarded as safe from attack in the event of a disturbance of peaceful relations with Germany.

Special to THE HERALD-Examiner Cable. London, March 30,-German politics con Berlin, whose name for obvious reasons is with Conservatives in their endeavor to oust Prince Bismarck from political life and from the hearts Conservatives in their endeavor to oust Prince Bismarck from political life and from the hearts of his countrymen, especially in the matter of defeating the Socialist bill in the last reichstag have become pretty fully known, a strong reaction has set in toward the ex-chancellor, which may in the near future prove disasterous politically to the Emperor's aspirations. Were Prince Bismarck less loyal to his Emperor and loved the Germans less, he could, by raising his mighty volce, by wielding his pungent pen, make the political life of the Emperor and his Conservative enemies of short duration indeed. But the ex-chancellor's political horoscope shows that there were those who sought his downfall and those who generously tried to put off the day will see these intrinces, against him prove a boomerang politically for those who fostered them. It was a knowledge of the means used to force Prince Bismarck into retirement, more than any other factor, that made the hearts of even the great Socialist population of Herling ocut in symmathy toward him and was the cause of the imperialistic reception, which greated him on the occasion of his visit to Berlin Wednesday last. Very few of the leading politicians in Berlin believe the Emperor will succeed in obtaining a working majority in the new relebstag, as it is thought that the concessions which will be asked for such service will far exceed his expectations.

The Dependent Pension Bill.

Washington, March 31.-After routine

siness, Reagan addressed the Senate on the bill for the issue of treasury notes on the deposit of silver bullion. The bill, he from the effects of the worse than blunder of Congress in suspending the silver coinage in 1873. He regarded it as a hopeful sign that the Republican Senate would join in the great work, even though the remedy thousand pounds of pipe became dislodged proposed might not be the best. It was to coinage of silver as well as gold. He fa-vored the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the government in silver as well as rold, the issue of coin certificates, able for public and private dues and taxes and the retirement of all legal tender and national bank notes of less denomination tion as to arears of pensions.

Berry asked if any estimate had been made of the cost of removing the limitation.

Plumb replied that the commissioner of pensions estimated it at about four hundred and seventy million dollars, and the chairman of the House committee on pensions estimated it at five hundred million dollars. It would be somethered in the committee of the committe dollars. It would be somewhere about dollars. It would be somewhere about those figures.

Frye regretted the amendment before the Senate. There was danger of overleaping in the matter of pensions. When Cleve-land commenced to veto pension bills not only the Democratic party ratified what he did, but many business men of the Repub-lican party too. He warned Senators they were imperilling the truest interests of the solders and creating prejudice against pensions.

Hawley spoke in a similar vein. The American nation certainly has not been stingy. The pension expenditure for the next year will be nearly one hundred and thirty million dollars. No nation in the world ever appropriated for its soldiers a sum to be compared with that. He begged the oid soldiers to remember that the objection to getting into another war the oid soldiers to remember that the objection to getting into another war would be, not the cost of carrying it on, but the consequences of it, and also asked them to remember these enormous sums of money came out of the pockets, very largely of people as peor as themselves. He related an anecdate of General Grant on the latters last visit to Washington, when, in a conversation on pensions, he said: "If I were President I would sign any reasonable bill to relieve would sign any reasonable bill to relieve the distress of the honest soldier or his dan this afternoon resigned the presidency and directorship of the Western National widow or children, but I should not vote one dollar to the able bodied men." "That one dollar to the able bodied men." "That last expression," said Hawley, "sank into my memory, and that is my platform. I don't believe my state warts me to add $500,000,000 to the debt of the republic."
